Agenda Item 2. Legislative and Budget Update
Legislative Liaison Erin Hardin updated the board on the work that the legislature is doing as bills are making their way through the legislative process. Commissioner Johnson is excited about the reading bill if it passes even though it might mean more work for the board but he is committed to working with the board and bill sponsors to implement it. There are about 40 bills that are moving through the legislature that the department is tracking, and included in that list, there are four bills from the governor that the department is tracking. A reading legislation bill is being crafted by the Senate Education committee and special attention is being paid to the fiscal cost due to the state’s fiscal situation. DEED Department staff is working with committee staff as this bill comes together. On the house side, they are focused on the budget subcommittee process and the department will be presenting to the House Education budget subcommittee on Friday, March 19th to discuss federal COVID-19 funds. March 26th, the subcommittee will close out their meetings. Commissioner Johnson responded that the board would vote on whether or not to support a piece of legislation. Anyone who wishes to comment on a piece of legislation can do so as a private citizen but you have to say that you are testifying on your own behalf and not on behalf of the board. Chair Fields also reminded the board that if they were to support one bill then there would be a flood of bills that people want the board to support. This board tries to stay away from anything that would require them to take a political position and instead focuses their work on supporting student education.

The department has five supplemental requests from the Governor’s Office and Director Sanders explained the five requests to the board and then took questions from board members. The department is currently reviewing math and English and language arts standards to bring before the board to go out for public comment at their April meeting. The next set of standards that the department is reviewing is the Social Studies standards and employability skills standards as well as the health standards. Director Van Wyhe commended the department for their work in stakeholder input for review and revision of standards when these standards need to be updated. Member Van Diest asked about history standards with specific attention to Alaska history. Director Van Wyhe responded the department is being very intentional and very careful regarding developing these standards because they are brand new but they are working to build these standards. Director Van Wyhe also updated the board on the Request for Information (RFI) process that the department is working to procure a new vendor for our statewide summative assessment for this year. Commissioner Johnson asked the board to approve in their business meeting the Mt. Edgecumbe High School Strategic Plan. The current MEHS Strategic Plan was adopted in 2016 and designed to be implemented over four years. Superintendent Vanasse updated the board on the work with the strategic plan. The most important item in the plan was to align their strategic plan with the Alaska Education Challenge and to make this document more of a living document versus a document that just sits on a shelf and no one ever sees. They moved from over forty different goals to seven specific targets to guide their progress while focusing on ensuring that students succeed both academically and emotionally. She explained how the document has changed from its previous version and has brought it into alignment with the Alaska Education Challenge. 6. Mt. Edgecumbe High School Land Proposal
Commissioner Johnson informed the board that they are being asked for approval for the department to pursue the sale of two parcels of land on Japonski Island to the Southeast Alaska Regional Health Consortium (SEARHC). Because of current legal impediments to the sale, the board is also being asked for approval to pursue an agreement with SEARHC to lease the two parcels. He reminded the board that they have expressed support for this whole idea in the past, but that the attorneys needed to guide the board on how to go about the transaction that needed to happen. Superintendent Vanasse led the advisory council in making a specific recommendation on the transaction and they worked with the attorneys at the Department of Law to turn that recommendation into a motion that the board will hear during their business meeting. Chair Fields explained that the motion that will be brought forward is intended to give Commissioner Johnson authority to move forward with the plan so that the board can move on to other things as they have already given their support for the idea. Commissioner Johnson committed to managing the opportunity well and be good stewards of the parcels. He also praised SERRC for their partnership during the pandemic and is excited about this continued partnership with this new project. Luann Weyhrauch from the Department of Law explained to the board that this motion would give the Commissioner the authority to pursue all of the options basically and the Commissioner also would have authority to execute a lease without coming back to the board, and then, as you note in the motion, before any transfer documents or sale documents would be executed, it would come back to the board so, but in the meantime, the Commissioner has a lot of authority to look at each option and decide what makes sense. Member Stockhausen as the board’s member on the Mt. Edgecumbe Advisory Board informed the members that the advisory board had discussed this and they are in support of this direction. The important issue for the advisory board is that any funds that are generated from a land transaction goes to Mt. Edgecumbe for them to manage and use for the benefit of students over there. Commissioner Johnson informed the board that it would have to be a statute change for that to happen but that there is great support from the Governor’s Office and members of the legislature to make that change.

The board took a lunch at 12:05 p.m. and reconvened at 12:25 p.m.
